

Study to decide use of depot land

A study will be made of whether federal land here should be partly converted to non-military development.

The U.S. Army on Thursday announced selection of Booker and Associates, St. Louis, an architectural engineering firm, to study future use of the St. Louis Area Support Center (SLASC), formerly the Granite City Army Depot.

Booker, contracted for the job by the Army Corps of Engineers, will determine the Army's need for a 156-acre slice near the center of the installation known as Tract Six.

THE SITE IS USED for Army Reserve training and also contains three warehouses. The Tri-City Regional Port District would like to convert the tract to an industrial park.

The Army declared the parcel excess in 1978 and it was put up for sale by the government's landlady, the General Services Administration (GSA).

However, with increased utilization starting in 1982, the Army requested the land be removed from the excess list. Last year, the GSA disapproved the Army's request and is actively pursuing the sale.

SLASC Commander Lt. Col. Robert A. Fortin said the Army has plans to fill between 85 percent and 100 percent of the warehouse space within the coming year. Six large, depot warehouses are now approximately 60 percent occupied by various government agencies, Fortin said.

THE BOOKER FIRM is to perform a study to determine future needs of the Army at SLASC based on current uses and projections. The study, scheduled for completion in October, will be sent to the Pentagon to meet a Nov. 1 deadline.

Fortin said the study was ordered by the assistant secretary of the Army for Installations. Results should allow the Army and GSA to reach an accord on the future of SLASC, which is in portions of the Illinois cities of Granite City, Madison and Venice.

In speaking of the desire to have the 156-acre tract deleted from the GSA excess list, Fortin said, "The Army must meet requirements and be prepared for contingencies."

ALTHOUGH SLASC is administered by the Army Aviation Systems Command (AVSCOM) headquartered in St. Louis, it presently supports 87 different federal and Department of Defense activities in the St. Louis area.

Its logistical support includes warehouse space, vehicle maintenance, fuel support, supply, family housing, morale and welfare, and it provides Army community service to 2,000 active military personnel and 50,000 retired military people in the metropolitan area.

Governmental and civic leaders of the Quad-City area were briefed by Fortin on July 10. He said there are plans, depending on funding, to build additional Army housing at the installation.

"WHILE WE CAN'T make promises based on possible future funding," Fortin said, "the Army needs additional housing units."

"And it isn't certain they could be built here if the Tract Six portion of SLASC is sold." Funding could come as soon as 1986, he said.

SLASC now has 895 acres with 64 units of housing. More than 140 permanent personnel reside at the base. The installation employs 200 persons through its contractor, with an additional 45 government workers.

Another 570 persons work full time at SLASC but are not directly employed. The total payroll is about $18 million annually, Fortin estimated.

Manpower levels may be 'hot' topic in budget discussion

By SUSAN SIGNAIGO-WEICH
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — A dispute over manning in the West Granite Fire Station could lead to a hot discussion among aldermen Tuesday night.

Aldermen will consider recommendations to the already passed budget. Among them are manpower levels for emergency services.

Outspoken concerning "under-manning" in the fire department, 5th Ward Alderman Lloyd Bailey said the situation may come to a head Tuesday.

In light of a "funny" circumstance that surfaced during the budget talks, Bailey is upset about the staffing.

The alderman has argued repeatedly about the number of firemen in the West Granite Fire Station. The station was only manned with two firemen each shift, he said. There were no Emergency Medical Technicians on duty.

Agreeing with Bailey, Fire Chief

Joe Holder said a third man is needed for more efficient fire call responses. He said the Insurance Service Organization reported a truck manned by two men is "not functional."

When no hirings were added to the budget, Bailey voted against it on first reading.

The next day, Bailey said he went to the West Granite Station and found three men on duty.

Satisfied, Bailey said he voted for the budget.

On Thursday, Bailey said he went to the fire station again, and found two men on duty.

Bailey said he was angered by the change, although he wouldn't term the action a trick.

"The only thing I can say about it was that it looked kind of funny to me that they had three men on one day and then only two on the next day," he said.

Bailey said the budget would not have passed if the aldermen knew the additional man in West Granite would be there only one day.

"I had eight aldermen who were going to vote against this thing with me," Bailey said.

Aldermen could not be reached Friday afternoon to discuss the matter.

The one-day change in manpower at the West Granite station was a "surprise," Mayor Von Dee Cruse said Friday.

"I had nothing to do with the extra man being put on there," he said.

Three men are wanted at the West

Granite station, Cruse said, adding he and Holder are discussing a possible employee schedule to meet the goal.

The change in the number of men in West Granite had nothing to do with the budget voting, Holder said. The number of men at the station fluctuates depending on the number of employees on vacation, Holder said.

The manpower situation has

TELEVISION TRUCKIN'. Little Bear Foot, a monster truck owned by Granite City's Fred Shafer, will be featured in a CBS series pilot to air on Wed., Aug. 7, at 7 p.m. on Channel 4. The

Little Bear Foot to 'roll 'em' in movie

By SUSAN SIGNAIGO-WEICH

Little Bear Foot. He's mean. Meanest machine you've ever seen.

Behind the wheel of eight tons of steel and rubber, Fred Shafer plans to roll his gargantuan Chevy S-10 pick-up truck through millions of living rooms this week.

Don't get in the way of that Chevrolet.

Measuring almost 12 feet from asphalt to sky, Granite City's favorite road machine goes just about anywhere it wants. Put a dozen cars in the way and Little Bear Foot rolls right over them.

Easily. Shafer's got his blue monster on a leash for now, though. Little Bear Foot won't go visiting those homes through the living room wall. Instead, he'll be on his best behavior while performing in a pilot movie for CBS.

The movie, entitled "Steel Collar Man," will feature heavyweights Chuck Connors of "The Rifleman" fame and Chuck Mitchell, the star of "Porky's I," "Porky's II," and "Porky's Revenge."

In the movie, which airs at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 7, Little Bear Foot will play the part of "Big Jake," the mean machine of bad guy Big Jake, portrayed by Mitchell.

Connors plays an FBI agent out to get Big Jake and the powerful truck. Little Bear Foot is shown in about 10 minutes of the hour-long comedy, strutting his stuff in car scenes and a car crush. In the car crush scene, Little Bear Foot rolls over six late-model cars, including a couple of Cadillacs, smashing them.

Little Bear Foot — crushing those cars and performing with stars.

Shafer also performs in the movie, acting as a stunt-double for Mitchell in the car scenes. One of Shafer's crew members, Bill Wells, rides with Shafer in Little Bear Foot.

If the pilot film is a success, Shafer hopes his monster truck will have a regular part in the show.

Little Bear Foot is not new to acting — this will be his second appearance on national television. Last year the monster truck appeared on "Knight Rider." Work was recently completed on a Coors beer commercial, too, that will be viewed soon.

The truck is most familiar to area residents through local car shows where he performs crowd-pleasing feats like the car crush, a mud pit race or a tug-of-war event.

Little Bear Foot will make an appearance today (Sunday) at St. Louis International Raceway. The event will benefit the National Kidney Foundation and the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation.

He's a mean machine, he's a monster machine...

He's Little Bear Foot, king of the road.

Forests shamed

WASHINGTON — The dollars that hikers pay for trail maps and overnight camping in national forests add up to considerable revenue each year. Unfortunately, large amounts of the public's contributions have been squandered by the Forest Service employees and by officials who squander the money on fancy lodgings for VIPs and insiders, according to recent inspector general's reports.

The theft, fraud and misuse of the agency's funds were tracked by the Agriculture Department IG's auditors through 12 national forests from Florida to Alaska. The IG's reports, obtained by our reporter Stewart Harris, blame the widespread abuses on lax accounting procedures. Here are the highlights:

— A clerk stole $1,128 from money that hikers had paid for $1 trail maps in the Marion-Sumter National Forest in North Carolina. The clerk also tore up checks worth $750,117, a still unexplained act that was discovered only after a timber buyer complained that his checks weren't being cashed by the Forest Service.

— The auditors uncovered $100,000 worth of fraud at two national forests in Oregon, including the depredations of two purchasing agents who went "on a shopping expedition" with government purchase orders. The two agents were caught when they paid out $2,770 for a pair of lawnmowers they put to their own uses.

— Contractors double-billed the Forest Service for merchandise at several forests.

— Officials spent $27,000 refurbishing the luxurious Sweetwater cabin in Ocala National Forest near Silver Springs, Fla. Top forestry officials, members of Congress and a former Agriculture secretary were among the lucky "campers" who enjoyed the cabin's private swimming hole and other amenities for just $12 a day. Not surprisingly, the cabin took in only $8,824 in laboratory research. The new kennel, which will be both heated and cooled and will face southwest for solar warmth in the winter, will house about 15 dogs at a time.

— For 42 years, the Advertising Council handled the Treasury Department's U.S. Savings bond publicity campaign. Because of the council's connections, the government got about $70 million worth of free media exposure a year. But the rental fees over a three-year period. Meanwhile, less-favored campers were forking over $5 a night for the privilege of pitching a tent on forest land.

— Another elegant accommodation for insiders who knew about it the public did not — was the Lake Meade Lodge in Nantahala National Forest, N.C. With 3,000 square feet of living space, two bedrooms and chestnut paneling, the rustic retreat was appraised at $100,000 even before the Forest Service spent $31,000 on improvements.

Even the IG's bird dogs had difficulty locating the 1,500-square-foot, cedar-and-stone Koenigsberger cabin in George Washington National Forest. Officials had neglected to list it on the roster of Forest Service property, even though they had shelled out $3,000 to spruce it up.

Sloppy bookkeeping, poor security and a dearth of surprise inspections "permitted embezzlements and other irregularities to proliferate," the IG reported. For example, a cashier at the Willamette National Forest in Oregon told investigators she often borrowed from the funds under her control and was always able to repay it before an inspection because advance notice was given before the inspectors arrived.

Forest Service officials in Washington denied that the IG report gave Smokey the Bear a black eye. They pointed out that only four employees have been convicted of financial crimes, and say corrective measures have been taken. But agency sources in the field say the problem is more serious, and report that many more employees were reprimanded or fired.

Teamwork

is key to McKinley Bridge, economic growth

Recently the president of SIUE, Dr. Earl Lazerson, advanced a proposal that bridges spanning the Mississippi, including the McKinley, be purchased, modernized and made toll-free with funds from a bi-county sales tax.

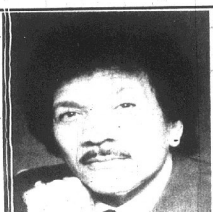

His proposal would remove ownership and control of the McKinley Bridge from the City of Venice, with subsequent loss of the tolls collected by that city and loss of the toll collectors' jobs held by residents of that city.

Along with most area leaders, I found the proposal both preposterous and arrogant. Like most proposals and planning that come from outside a community, it failed to take into consideration the needs of citizens who reside in that community and whose lives would be most affected.

Had Mr. Lazerson been sensitive to the needs of local citizens, he could easily have proposed that a sales tax be levied to modernize the bridge and pay off its debts, but also have proposed that ownership and toll collection be conferred to the City of Venice to provide for continued maintenance and improvements when they become necessary.

Such a proposal would be similar to the much-needed Madison County Transit Tax, which has provided an ever-increasing quality of bus transportation for Madison County residents, but which has not eliminated bus fares.

The McKinley Bridge, like the roads and buses, serves Madison County residents as the most cost-effective conduit into the City of St. Louis. Madison County residents should be more than willing to support modernization of the bridge

Your views

because such modernization would provide an added plus for business and industry to locate within the county.

Collection of the tolls should continue for three very good reasons. The first is that once enough money is raised with the tax to modernize and pay off the bridge debts, the tax can then be removed, and the necessary continued maintenance paid for with the toll collections.

Secondly, who can argue with the fact that a toll is fairer than a tax? Those who use the bridge the most should and would pay the most for its maintenance.

Thirdly, since this proposal would, probably be more acceptable to local political leaders, the means to initiate this proposal could begin now.

In the end, no matter how one feels about Mr. Lazerson's proposal, the part which calls for the bridges to be modernized will win out. No area can ignore the need for a smooth and easy flow of traffic to foster areawide economic growth. All the bridges, including the McKinley, must be brought up to modern highway standards.

The only question is whether outside influences will determine the means and methods, which they undoubtedly will use to their advantage, or whether local officials will take the initiative.

What it all adds up to is that local officials must move aggressively to develop local resources. No longer is it enough for a mayor or any local official to be concerned with just providing trash and garbage pickup, police protection and other everyday services. The name of the game is economic development that provides new sources of revenue, jobs and an ever higher standard of living.

This is true, whether the subject under discussion is the airport near Granite City, the area near Route 203 and Highway 70 recently annexed by the City of Madison, the surplus section of the Granite City Depot, or the McKinley Bridge.

That is why it is so necessary for area residents, local businessmen, and other local leaders to support the bond of friendship that now exists between the mayors of Granite City, Venice and Madison. It is an important first step toward protecting area resources from economic plights by outside influences.

Working with Nellie Hagauer of the Madison County Board, that bond of friendship will also serve as a catalyst for economic development as they support one another in their quest to give area residents an even higher standard of living than anything ever achieved before.

The fate of the three cities is mutually intertwined. Who can deny that downtown Granite City cannot survive without shoppers from the Madison and Venice area? Businessmen from that area might take a look at the example set by the mayors, the local YMCA, the Press-Record/Journal, and open their doors with a wide welcome to any and all who have the need and the means to take advantage of the goods and services they have to offer. To do anything less may mean economic death.

The communities of Madison, Venice and Granite City have long bonded themselves together, for political purposes and have made themselves felt in the political arena throughout the county, state and nation. An economic pact would do no less.

Thanks to this great newspaper for the privilege of expressing my views.

Utility reform called victory

To the Editor:
Consumers won a victory when the General Assembly took an important step toward utility law reform by passing Senate Bill 1021. This legislation makes far-reaching changes in the way utility rates are set in Illinois.

SB 1021 is now on Gov. James Thompson's desk. The Citizens Utility Board (CUB) urges the governor to sign this and to reject utilities' efforts to weaken it.

This new legislation, over the long run, should provide consumers with badly needed rate relief. Long-overdue Illinois Commerce Commission internal reforms should lead to fairer rate hike hearings.

There will be increased consumer participation in rate-setting and it will be simpler for groups like CUB to appeal unfair rate hike decisions to the courts. The new law also mandates utilities to develop long-range plans to provide us with electricity. Utilities will now undergo periodic management audits which should help control unnecessary utility expenses.

The new law doesn't include every provision CUB fought for in the last session of the General Assembly. It will, however, greatly improve regulation of Illinois utilities.

For that reason, CUB urges the governor to sign SB 1021 and to reject pressures to water it down. CUB encourages all consumers fed up with high utility rates to ask the governor to act quickly by signing SB 1021 into law.

Phoenix necessary community member

Some men beat women. A recent Granite City police report reveals a prominent community member last week beat his wife so badly she went to the hospital.

One victim tells the harrowing tale of a suspicious lover who, during a quarrel, refused to believe she had broken her leg after a fall. The break caused her leg to swell into the boot she wore. She wept in pain, but he refused to believe her and yanked off that boot. She still winces when telling that story.

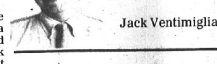

The reason some men seek to dominate their wives by beatings of mental abuse escapes me. Excuses might be lack of money, alcoholism, the continuation of a cycle of repeating the acts of one's father.

All good excuses. All inexcusable. All criminal.

And all occur in this town.

It's been happening for years here. And for years it's been ignored.

Columnists' club

Jack Ventimiglia

It's not that people in this community don't care. They do. But it's a big problem without simplistic answers.

After all, what would you do if a woman came to you on a hot summer night, her lip swollen and eyes full of tears while she timidly asks for a safe place to stay? Add to it that she holds a child in diapers, and that her violent husband might come looking for her. Your heart might go out to her, but could you offer her your home for perhaps a day? A week, a month?

Like I said, simplistic answers won't cut it. But the problem's not being ignored.

People from Granite City, Madison, Pontoon Beach and Venice have come together to aid a small, local group calling itself Phoenix.

They haven't much money, but they have a will to help battered women in the Quad-City Area. With small donations here and there from bake sales and dances, and money right out of their own pockets, they have managed to get a little office in Granite City with a telephone.

(The telephone, lifeline might be a better word for it, provides access to answers for women wanting to escape violent homes: 431-1008.)

Phoenix also has a full-time staff member working for less than some kids can earn in under half the time at a fast-food restaurant.

It's a modest start. Phoenix has, in effect, landed on the beach and is after the high ground — a home for battered women in the Quad-City Area.

There is an effort worthy of praise from all segments of this community.

It's also an effort deserving tangible support.

Battered Quad-City women are sent away, to Alton or Belleville. Being forced to leave this community can add to the trauma of being physically abused. But Phoenix offers the possibility for this community to take care of its own.

Phoenix wants a shelter because this community needs a shelter. For this community, a shelter is more than a goal — it's an obligation. We should not send women to other communities when shelters there are already overcrowded. I do not believe this community will allow that to continue.

Phoenix deserves support from the Quad-City Area. In coming months, when the opportunity to help arises, this community will show its selfless spirit, its irrepressible pride, its heart.

The women in this community will know that when they are in need, their hometown won't let them down.

For a moment, then, spot out, "But it wasn't what I meant to say and you know it. You could have printed what I meant to say instead of what I actually said."

"That would make for some interesting journalism," I said, trying to be agreeable.

"Next time try to be fair," he was saying as he left the office. "Write what I mean to say instead of what I say. And pay attention just to my side of things. That's the way to keep this country safe from democracy."

Presenting only one side keeps nation safe from democracy

There are two sides to every question. For most people, there is their side and the wrong side.

Newspapers don't choose sides, at least in the news, and that irritates some people, as happened one day.

"Where do you get off writing that garbage about the city's problems?" an angry visitor inquired, wagging an angry finger between my eyes.

"You're referring to the city's plans for Ward 10?" I ventured, then added, "What was wrong with the story?"

He took a deep breath, then rattled off, "You printed Alderman Horn-tooter's every comment. EVERY ROTTER WORD. How much stock does he own in your paper?"

"None," I assured him. "But what's the problem? Your side got into the paper."

"But you printed more of what he said," the man grumbled.

"He said more, didn't he?"

"Maybe so, but I didn't like what you wrote about what I said. You made his side sound better."

"But that's exactly what you said."

The man sucked on his upper lip

Hearing on 2nd lock; Congress votes funds

Downtown St. Louis will be the site of the third of three public meetings on an environmental impact statement (EIS) for a second new river lock.

Funding and authorization for the second lock were voted Thursday by the U.S. House and Senate after a campaign lasting seven years.

THE PUBLIC MEETING on the EIS related to the Lock and Dam 26 replacement project is to be held in the Mayan Room of the Bel-Air Hilton Hotel, 4th Street and Washington Avenue, Tuesday, Aug. 6, at 7:30 p.m.

Prior meetings were held in St. Paul, Minn., July 31 and Davenport, Iowa, Aug. 1.

The Engineers Corps earlier had been authorized to proceed with engineering and design for the second lock, to be located at a Mississippi River site two miles south of the present locks and dam. The design task includes preparation of an impact statement.

THE SECOND LOCK has been described as essential for safety and efficiency. Construction that may require a decade is continuing on a single lock and the new dam.

At Tuesday's public meeting, the Corps will review the status of the construction work and discuss how installation of the second lock can be phased into the construction sequence.

Then, preparation of the EIS will be discussed, including its relationship to the Upper Mississippi River Basin Commission's comprehensive master plan of January 1982.

CITIZENS, as well as any agencies represented, will be invited to provide comments and suggestions on the concerns to be covered in the EIS.

Written statements can be handed in at the meeting or mailed through Aug. 21 to: U.S. Army Engineer District, St. Louis, ATTN: LMSPD-A, 210 Tucker Blvd. North, St. Louis, Mo. 63101-1988.

Further public meetings will be scheduled later in the process of preparing the EIS.

A COMPROMISE reached Thursday at the Capitol authorized the second lock and 21 other water projects. It provides money 9 months from now if the House public works and transportation committee does not appropriate it sooner.

Congress had never before formally approved a 600-foot second river lock. The 1,200-foot lock now being built was approved in 1978.

Backers said the new action will assure that this metropolitan area remains the leading inland waterway port in the U.S.

Ill. Power to fight planned cost cap

Illinois Power Company has been notified an Illinois Commerce Commission hearing examiner issued a proposed interim order on July 25. If adopted by the commission, it would order the company to proceed with its plans to complete construction of its nuclear-powered Clinton Unit 1 and would find that it is economically reasonable to do so.

The proposal would also establish a construction cap of $2,698,361,000 on the company's share of Clinton Unit 1 for ratemaking purposes, with a "strong presumption that any amount expended above the cap has been imprudently incurred and should not be borne by ratepayers."

"The company believes that the portion of the proposed interim order which states a presumption that any amount expended above the cap is imprudently incurred — is not supported by evidence in the case and is not in conformance with Illinois law," an IPC spokesman said.

The law requires that "prior to incurring the cost of plants or additions to utility plants in the rate base, the commission shall conduct an audit of such costs in order to ascertain whether the cost associated with the new generating plant or the addition to electric utility generating plant is reasonable." Such an audit is presently being performed by Touche, Ross and Co. and the Nielsen-Wurster Group under contract to the ICC, with a date due for the filing of the report of Nov. 1.

The $2,698,361,000 figure used in the proposed order is the company's current official estimate of its portion of the cost of Clinton Unit 1; the estimate was released in October 1984.

As of the end of June 1985, the company had expended $135 million in excess of its expenditures budgeted through that date.

Under the commission's rules of practice, the company and other parties to the proceedings have an opportunity to file exceptions to the hearing examiner's proposed interim order and to file replies to exceptions.

Following this, the proposed interim order, exceptions and replies will be submitted to the commission for its consideration.

Ill. Power will file an exception, stating that the imposition of the construction cost cap is not supported by the evidence and does not conform with the law.

Only the commission may enter an order in the pending proceedings.

YMCA in bank draft system

The Tri-City Area YMCA is now participating in the Houston Bankdraft system for the convenience of "Y" members.

"One can now take out a membership on the bankdraft plan and not worry about having to write a check every month," a spokesman said.

There are three Granite City Steel discount memberships remaining, and St. Elizabeth Medical Center associates have 33 discount memberships remaining.

Both of these institutions have made use of a corporate agreement in which the YMCA absorbs 30 percent of the membership cost, the institution pays 35 percent and the individual member pays the other 35 percent.

For further information on the Houston Bankdraft plan, corporate or individual memberships, the YMCA can be called at 876-7200.

Venice park budget higher

By RACHEL NEWSOME

A slightly higher budget has been approved in the Venice Park District.

The park board adopted its 1985-86 fiscal year budget at a meeting July 29. Budget allocations amounted to $102,031, or $5,885 more than last year's $96,146.

Budget amounts include: general corporate expenses, $48,361, up $1,200; recreation fund, $38,674, an increase of $3,042; audit, $314, down by $240; liability insurance, $6,736, up by $1,498; and municipal retirement fund, $7,943, a rise of $394.

Park Manager Arnold Johnson reviewed the final budget figures.

He noted that preparations for construction of a Lee Park water slide are beginning, including some demolition work.

Board President John Henry Williams said the slide and related equipment were scheduled to arrive soon.

The project has been estimated to take four weeks.

The board's next regular meeting is slated for Thursday, Aug. 8, at 7 p.m. at the Lee Park offices.

Auto exhaust test stations to open in area by May 1

A California firm will test Metro-East automobiles next year. Illinois Environmental Protection Agency Director Richard J. Carlson announced July 31 that Systems Control Inc., based in Palo Alto, was awarded a contract to operate the vehicle emissions testing program in Cook County and parts of DuPage, Lake, Madison and St. Clair counties.

This program is designed to check motor vehicles to determine if they are emitting excessive pollutants. Vehicles which are not in compliance will have to be repaired and retested.

According to the contract, Systems Control will be required to obtain land, build testing facilities, and operate the testing program. The IEPA will oversee the program and have personnel at each testing station to answer questions motorists may have.

There will be 15 sites in the Chicago area and three in Metro-East.

The vehicle emissions test is free to vehicle owners. Each test will cost the state $4.87 and will be paid for with revenue generated from motor fuel taxes.

The program is expected to begin May 1, 1986, and will be the largest centralized test program in the United States. About 2.4 million vehicles will be subject to the annual emissions test.

"Location of the testing stations will be designed to maximize the convenience for the vehicle owner," said Frank Sherman, program manager of vehicle inspection and maintenance.

"Most people will live within 12 miles of a testing station, and the average driving distance will be only three and one-half miles.

"Everyone subject to the program will receive specific instructions and a temporary sticker from the IEPA before the program begins."

Prison term set on burglary plea

A guilty plea July 19 to a burglary charge has resulted in a four-year prison sentence for James M. Shumate, 2030 Hildebrand St., Madison, Madison County Associate Judge Charles Romani also ordered Shumate, 29, to pay $90 in court costs.

Shumate was charged with burglary July 2 after an investigation by Granite City police.

11-year prison term set for GC man

Madison County Circuit Judge P.J. O'Neill sentenced Edward Crowell, 24, of 1708 Delmar Ave. to 11 years in prison after Crowell pleaded guilty to armed robbery July 15.

The charge was filed May 6 after an investigation by Granite City police into the May 4 robbery of Schewe's Confectionery, 2500 Grand.

Police arrested Crowell May 6 at 17th Street and Grand Avenue during officers' response to a prowler at the Sonic Service Station. He was charged with prowling and later with the armed robbery.

In the confectionary robbery, Becky Huff, a clerk at the store, alleged a man, later identified as Crowell, came into the store, walked up to the cash register, threw a paper bag at her and told her to give him all of the money.

She said Crowell was holding a small-caliber automatic pistol in his hand. She began placing money in the bag while operating a silent alarm button.

She said Crowell became impatient and reached into the register himself to fill up the bag. He then fled north on Grand Avenue.

On May 6, police were called to the Sonic Service Station, 1817 Madison Ave., to check on two men nearby. Police followed a trail of matted weeds to 17th and Grand, where they found Crowell lying on the ground.

Jerry B. Chenevert, Matthew's father and executor of the estate, is suing Monica Westbrook of East Alton for alleged negligence in failing to keep a proper lookout for pedestrians, for failing to keep her vehicle under control and for failing to apply the brakes and slow down when pedestrians were in view.

The suit seeks more than $15,000 for each of two counts. The second count involves medical and funeral expenses.

Matthew was struck by the Westbrook vehicle Oct. 27, 1984, when he and three friends ran west across Route 3, about 200 feet south of Rock Road, according to Illinois State Police reports.

He died Oct. 28 at Cardinal Glennon Hospital in St. Louis.

Westbrook was not charged.

St. Louisan sentenced for robbery

The man slashed a small knife at Hadley several times before fleeing south through the alley between Nameoki Road and Myrtle Avenue. Hadley suffered five superficial wounds on the stomach area and did not need immediate treatment. Nothing was found to be missing in the garage.

Correction

Two headlines were switched in the Thursday, Aug. 1, issue of the Granite City Press-Record.

Fred Flaugh Jr. was sentenced to six months in jail and four years' probation on a guilty plea to a criminal sexual assault charge. The headline should have read, "Probation ordered on plea to sexual assault."

John Early was sentenced to three years' probation and a $1,000 fine on a guilty plea to two counts of possession of a controlled substance. The headline should have said, "Probation, fine ordered for plea to possession."

The newspaper regrets the error.

Jail, probation ordered in home burglary case

Madison County Circuit Judge P.J. O'Neill also ordered Bolin to pay $95 in court costs.

Bolin was charged May 9 with a burglary at 101 Wilson Park Lane after an investigation by Granite City police. Bolin and two juveniles were arrested after one of the juveniles was apprehended at the residence by David Cotton, the occupant, and his friend, David Lynch.

The two arrived at the home and saw a shadow in the window. When Cotton entered the front door, he said, three persons ran out the back door.

Youngsters get

Down to earth view of planes, copters

They never got off the ground, but 10 children from the City Temple Child Development Center were afforded an inside look at helicopters and airplanes during a tour of Belleville Area College's Granite City Campus aviation maintenance and electronics department last week.

The group of youngsters included Cale Becker, Brad Revelle, Steven Smith, Stephanie Smith, Tonia Champion, Heather Walker, Richie Dale, Jamie Michaels, Tara Walker and Heather Walker. The children, ages six to eleven, toured GCC's aviation maintenance technology and aviation electronics programs. They spent two hours looking at the airplanes, helicopters and jet engines at the campus.

Debbie Wofford, director of the child development center, said they take the children on field trips like this about once a month. In the past, they have toured such landmarks as the Gateway Arch, the St. Louis Zoo and area museums.

"We think the children enjoy getting away from the same surroundings," Wofford said. "We also hope they will become educated and informed."

They came to GCC partly because Wofford is interested in aviation. Last year, she said they went to the Downtown St. Louis airport in Cahokia, but because of the regulations, were unable to see much. Some of the parents knew about GCC's program and she thought it would be a good way for the children to get a close-up view of airplanes.

The tour, led by GCC aviation maintenance technology instructor Mike Marcum, started with a look at the program's helicopters.

"A helicopter is the most difficult thing to fly," Marcum said while showing off the controls.

"Think we can get in one?" one of the children said to a friend.

After explaining how they worked, Marcum helped the children climb into the Hughes 269 military training helicopters and showed them how to work the controls.

As they went along, Wofford would ask questions, both to Marcum and the children. "What did he just explain?" she asked the children. "How does this work?"

Next, the group went inside the campus's DC-3, a cargo plane Marcum described as "the workhorse of World War II" because of its cargo capacity and durability.

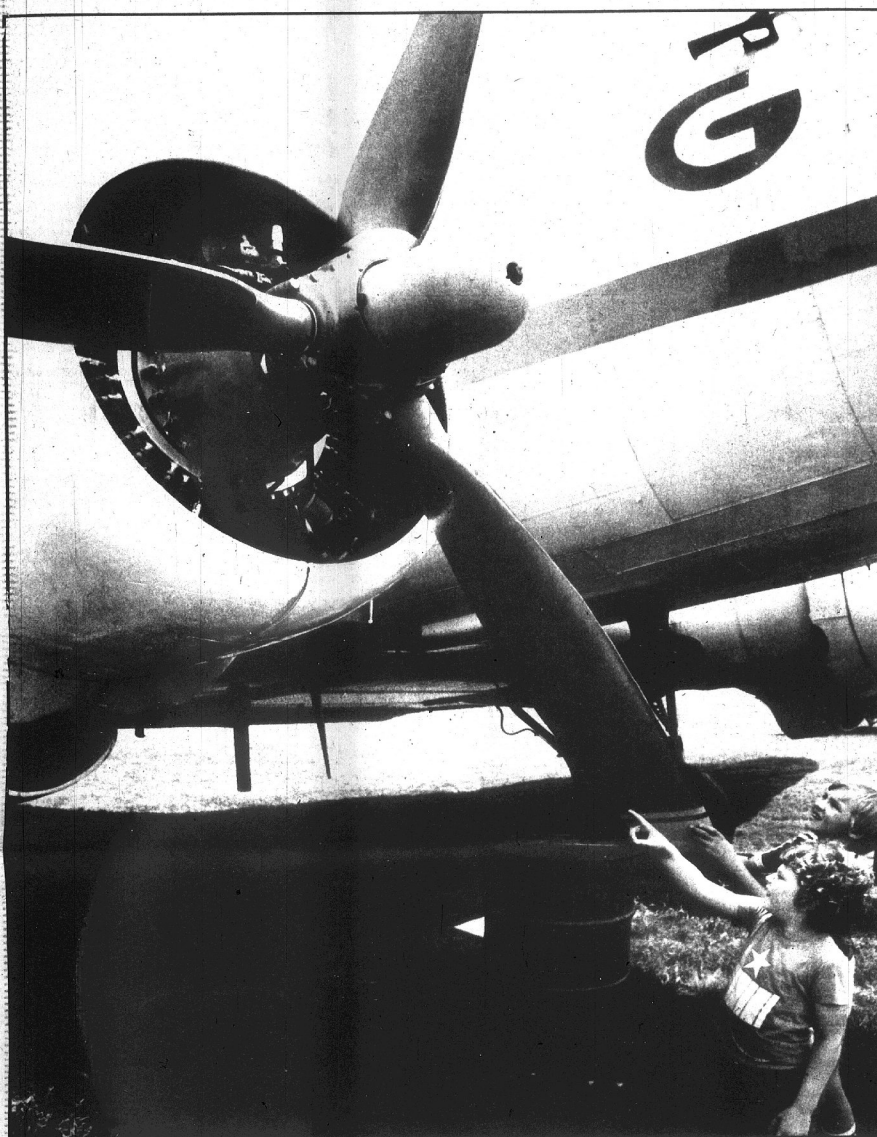

While touring the classrooms and workshops, they were able to see how an airplane's landing gear works and were given a close-up view of the program's jet engines.

"Have any of you seen Magnum, P.I.?" Marcum asked as he stood by a small jet engine.

He said the engine, not much bigger than many of the children, was the same as the one used by T.C., a helicopter pilot in the TV show.

The children were impressed. Throughout the afternoon, both Marcum and Wofford compared what the children had seen to what was on television. The helicopters were described as "Airwolfes" and many of the questions asked by the children were about things they'd seen airplanes and helicopters do on TV and in movies.

"They see that (on television) and wonder if it's real," Wofford said. "This is a way of showing them."

YOU CAN BANK ON IT!

E. A. KARANDJEFF
Chairman
Central Bank
of Granite City

Q: I've spent a number of years developing a product I think will sell very well. Rather than trying to find a manufacturer, I've decided to go into business for myself. I believe that I have the wherewithal to manufacture and market my product myself. I do have one question, however: What is the best basis on which to approach and negotiate an agreement with a bank as a small business borrower?

A: Many people in the industry believe that the answer to your question can be simply stated: Mutual trust. Honesty and openness are the best policy for initial contacts. Afterward, you will need to have enough confidence in your banker to go to him when you encounter any problems. Likewise, your banker should not panic if your business experiences a down turn which it may, or if you should run into an unavoidable snag. But, how is such a relationship built? Good, solid, frank and honest conversation is the first step. See your banker and have an honest talk with him. He'll listen.

Cherry Banana Boat

Stretch food dollars with Fresh and juicy fruits

Go ahead and indulge! Bite into a juicy peach, savor a slice of crisp watermelon, or nibble on sweet bing cherries. These and other summer fruits, at their peak of quality and lowest price, are just waiting to be picked.

While cashing in on summer's fruitful bounty from the super-market produce section, farmers' market or roadside stand, keep in mind a few simple selection and storage tips. Together, they'll ensure that today's favorites will look and taste freshly picked, whether they are enjoyed now or frozen for later use.

Let color, firmness and aroma be the guides to selection. When fully ripe, most fruits will yield to gentle pressure. They will have a rich color and pleasing aroma. Avoid those which are green, overly bruised or rock hard. These are signs of immaturity and careless handling.

However, softness is not the only clue to ripeness.

TO WITHSTAND THE RIGORS OF SHIPPING, some fruits must be picked before they are fully ripe. Peaches, plums and nectarines are examples. To ripen these fruits at home, place them in a loosely closed paper bag and store at room temperature a day or two.

For best flavor and nutrition, all ripe summer fruits should be refrigerated immediately. Eat as soon as possible, washing just before serving.

Because they are so fragile, berries require extra-special care. Strawberries, for example, should be removed from their carton and stored in a single layer in a shallow container. Wait to remove the caps until you're ready to use the berries, then gently use the tip of a sharp paring knife.

Cherry Banana Boat

- 1 banana, unpeeled
  - 5 pitted fresh sweet cherries
  - 2 to 3 tsp. chocolate chips
  - 1 tbsp. miniature marshmallows
  - 2 to 3 tsp. chopped nuts
  - 2 to 3 tsp. coconut
- Cut a lengthwise wedge-shaped section through unpeeled banana, being careful not to cut through one end of peel. Pull back peel; remove banana wedge (save for other use). Fill cavity with cherries, chocolate chips, marshmallows, nuts, and coconut. Replace peel over filling. Wrap securely in foil. Heat 5 to 7 minutes over hot coals or at 400° in oven 10 minutes. Makes 1 "boat".
- Microwave variation: Place filled banana on microwave-safe plate; cover with plastic wrap. Microwave at high 45 seconds or until chocolate melts and banana is thoroughly heated.

Chamber reviews resumes

By DAVE WHALEY
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Interviews will be held this week with candidates for executive vice president of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce.

Dave Schermer, president of the Chamber's executive board, said Friday the board had received about 15 resumes so far and will interview "one or two" candidates later this week.

SCHERMER SAID board members met last Tuesday and narrowed the 15 resumes to five, which were then ranked.

"Our goal is to have a new director hired by the end of the month," Schermer said. "We wanted to start doing interviews now so we wouldn't get too far behind in our work."

He indicated the deadline for applications to be submitted is Aug. 15, and said the fact that candidates will be interviewed prior to that date does not necessarily mean they will be hired.

THE CHAMBER has been without an executive director since July 19, when James Pennekamp left to take a position as president of the Greater Alton/Twin Rivers Growth Association.

Schermer said the board would prefer hiring someone from this metropolitan area.

"I don't know if we want someone coming in from, say, Indiana," he said. "We don't want to have to spend six months helping the person learn about the area. We want someone from this general area who at least has an idea about the Tri-Cities."

The Chamber has advertised in the local papers as well as in St. Louis and Schermer also said advertising is being done through the state Chamber of Commerce.

IN THE MEANTIME, the day-to-day operations at the local office are getting done.

"This is probably the best time of year to be without a director," Schermer said. "You have a lot of people on vacation and things in the community aren't terribly busy."

"We will, hopefully, be without a director for only about six weeks total, and I think the staff here now is more than capable of handling the day-to-day chores."

"NO ONE PERSON is really picking up the director's duties," said Lavern Taylor, secretary of the Chamber office. "As far as things related to economic development, we're waiting for the new director. But everybody's helping out in the interim."

Pennekamp had made himself available by phone if any questions needed to be answered, but Schermer said so far there have been no problems.

"Basically, we've missed a director when it comes to personal contacts with local businesses, but all the members of the board have made themselves available," Schermer said. "We were concerned about losing Jim, which is a commitment to him. But we'll be able to get along until we get a new person."

Auto mechanics accept 3-year pact, pay hike

Auto mechanics voted 236-60 at the Labor Temple in Granite City July 31 to approve a three-year agreement with the St. Clair-Madison (counties) Automotive Association, representing 35 dealers. Another 42 garages abide by the same terms. Hourly pay of $11.75 will increase 50 cents in the first year and 50 cents in each of the second and third years. There will be a guaranteed work week of 40 hours, with an extra 50 cents paid for each hour over 40 hours, rising to $1.50 in the third year.

Mechanists and Teamsters negotiated for the automotive employees. The settlement was achieved immediately before expiration of the 1982-85 contract.

Openings for Air officers

Openings for both flying and non-flying officers exist now, according to Lieutenant Colonel Richard R. Ray, commander of the 3545th Air Force Recruiting Squadron. "Well qualified and motivated young people who have the desire to excel in a demanding and challenging career are needed to fill vacancies that have recently become available," he said.

The minimum requirements that must be met are: U.S. citizen, in good physical condition, a college senior or a bachelor's degree, and less than 34 years of age. Benefits are said to include an excellent salary, 30 days of vacation yearly with pay, and complete medical and dental care.

AND I CAN'T EVEN DRIVE. Hazel Reinbold and her husband, John, of Lemay, Mo., drew the key that opened a new Ford truck at Hutton Ford in Wood River during a gala event at Hutton's July 27. The day included copter rides and appearances by personalities from KUSA radio. Mrs. Reinbold said she didn't know how to drive, but she still took the truck. (Photo by T.L. Witt)

Session set on annex funding

The General Assembly will meet in special session Oct. 2 at noon to act on additional funding to complete construction of the McCormick Place Annex in Chicago.

"McCormick Place is the number one convention facility in the nation. It brings hundreds of millions of dollars to the Chicago and Illinois economies and provides thousands of jobs in the hotel, retail, transportation and restaurant industries," Gov. James Thompson said.

That position is being threatened by New York, which is building a convention center that it hopes will take away the business that now goes to McCormick. If that happens, the effects will be felt by thousands of Illinoisans who benefit directly from jobs that serve the convention business. And others who benefit from the tax revenue created by McCormick Place would see an impact, too.

Special House and Senate committees are just beginning to investigate the cost overruns that exist at the Annex. Whether those overruns are a function of the marketplace or due to management error is still subject to question. I want those answers as much as anybody, and I hope these legislative panels find them in an impartial manner and present their findings to the Assembly and the public.

"The bottom line is we cannot afford to lose those thousands of jobs. We cannot afford to lose the tax revenue that McCormick Place generates."

Industry and labor helping guide job training in area

A panel of 25 is continuing to oversee federally-funded job training in this area.

The Madison-Bond Counties Private Industry Council chose officers for 1985-86 at its mid-summer meeting. John Fruit, president of Edwardsville National Bank and Trust Co. was re-elected chairman. Herb Roach, vice president of Basler Electric Co. in Highland, was re-elected vice chairman and Dean Turner, secretary-treasurer of the Builders' Trade Council, was re-elected secretary-treasurer of PIC.

Madison County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer pointed out that the Private Industry Council consists of persons representing business, education, labor and other segments of the community.

"They voluntarily contribute their time and expertise, in partnership with the Madison and Bond county board chairmen, in directing and assisting the Madison County Employment and Training Department's operations. Through the Council's efforts, the department has again exceeded the performance goals demanded of it this past year," Hagnauer said.

The department is the local operating arm for the federal Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA).

Main purpose of JTPA is to assist economically disadvantaged persons in finding gainful employment through a number of available programs.

The programs offer tuition-paid vocational training and retraining in a variety of fields, on-the-job training in cooperation with area businesses, youth programs for young people, Job Clubs which assist already-qualified persons in job search techniques, and a job placement service to further assist them upon completion of these programs, if needed.

JTPA program, through the Madison County Employment and Training Department, also assists employers in finding capable people to fill job openings. The department enables employers to reduce or eliminate recruitment costs and reduce the cost of training new employees. These services are free to employers.

Hagnauer and Fruit said all inquiries concerning the JTPA program may be directed to the Madison County Employment and Training Department, 130 Hillsboro Ave., Edwardsville. The department can be reached at 692-6200, extension 4445.

Department of Insurance announces complaint ratios

The Illinois Department of Insurance has released its personal lines complaint ratios for 1984. With the exception of slight deviations in total complaints per line, the ratios reveal no major changes or new trends from the previous year.

Total complaints for three of the five personal lines included in the report increased by small margins over 1983: homeowners by 9.7 percent, auto by 4.8 percent and individual life insurance by 10.4 percent. Total complaints for group accident and health companies declined by 6.7 percent.

"NONE OF THESE deviations are significant enough to isolate any particular trends," commented Insurance Director John E. Washburn. "We can speculate that the instability in the casualty insurance industry has generated a few more auto and homeowner complaints or that growing acceptance of insurer cost containment programs has resulted in less health insurance complaints, but the numbers don't support any clear-cut conclusions."

Washburn cautions against placing too much credence in complaint ratios as a single measure of company performance.

"RATIOS ARE USEFUL regulatory tools to the extent that they alert us to potential problems that may trigger a market conduct examination or closer surveillance of a particular line. But it is unwise for a regulator or consumer to evaluate a company solely on the basis of its complaint ratio," he said.

Only companies with 10 or more complaints were included in the Department's listing, and there is no certification that the complaints counted are justified.

Complaints are defined as "written correspondence primarily expressing a grievance against an insurance company." Consumers are being encouraged to consider an insurer's pricing structure and benefits in conjunction with complaint statistics.

A GEOGRAPHIC analysis of complaint data reveals that 57 percent of all complaints received in 1984 originated from Chicago and the Chicago metropolitan area, with the remaining 43 percent coming from the rest of Illinois.

Of the total accident and health complaints received, the downstate area accounted for 51 percent and 83 percent of the group and individual complaints, respectively. For auto insurance, the numbers are reversed with the Chicago area producing 76 percent of those complaints.

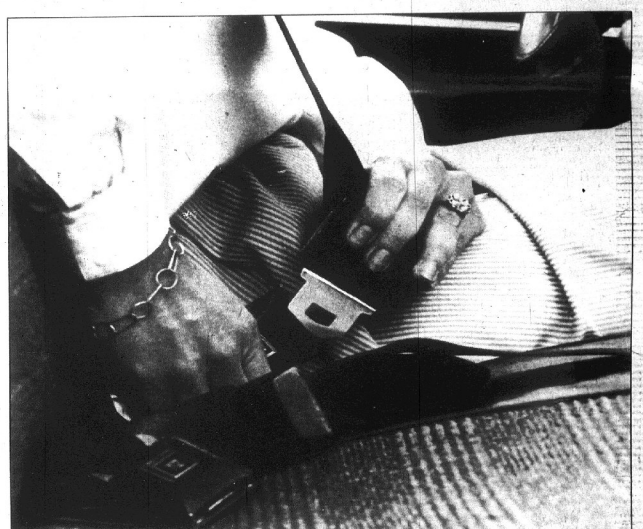

THE DISTRIBUTION of accident and health complaints is not as easily explained, but could be due to the fact that group insurance is less accessible in less populated areas, thus resulting in a higher number of individual accident and health policyholders, Washburn said.

Questions about complaint statistics may be addressed to the department's Consumer Services Section at 320 W. Washington St., Springfield 62767 or 100 W. Randolph St., Suite 15-100, Chicago 60601.

Harmon found 'harmony' in his 31 years as teacher, coach

By JIM BLASINGAME
Staff writer

When Virgil Richard "Dick" Harmon talks about his 31 years at Granite City High School, he uses words like 'lucky,' 'enjoyable,' and 'blessed.'

Harmon is retiring this fall from his position as a physical education teacher, but he isn't quite ready to give up his real love, coaching. He will return once again to head the girls' tennis team, and hopefully, add to the more than 350 wins he has already accumulated in his tenure as Granite City's tennis mentor.

But despite his coaching 15 district and 12 conference championship tennis teams, it isn't the joy of victory or the agony of defeat that Harmon remembers most. Rather, his rewards have come from the many associations with young men and women who played for him and called him 'coach.'

Harmon's first coaching position was the head basketball job in Wayne City, but his obsession for sports dates back to his boyhood. As a high schooler, Harmon ran on Granite City's mile and two-mile relay squads that turned in conference championship times. He was also a starting forward on the Warrior basketball team.

At Southern Illinois University at Carbondale in 1946, Harmon played a sixth man role for the National Intercollegiate Athletic Association basketball champions. In track, Harmon was a conference champion in the 800-yard dash in 1944, and was favored to win the 440 the following year. But at the conference meet, a bystander's nervous trigger finger cost him first place.

"This conference meet was held at Bloomington and they (the 440 runners) got ready for the gun to go off, and there was this 'bang, bang.' Now, two gunshots is supposed to be a false start. Everybody else started out running," Harmon recalled laughingly.

"They were about 20 yards ahead, and everybody's running, so I took off after 'em. Well, I ended up getting third place. And the coach came up to me afterwards and said, 'What happened to you?'"

"And I said, 'Doc, there were two guns.' And he said, 'Dick, there wasn't two guns.' And I said, 'Yes there was.' So he went over and asked the starter, and the starter said, 'Dick is right. There were two guns.'

"He (the starter) had given a friend of his a gun, his extra gun, and the guy had never been to a track meet."

"Never been to a track meet before, and he had it (the gun) in his pocket. And he had his finger on the trigger, and when he (the starter) fired his off, this other guy got excited and fired his off. And I was the only one that heard it. There was no way they could run it (the race) again, you know, because I was the only guy who heard it."

In his senior year, Harmon did not participate in college athletics, but instead, took a student teaching job at Carbondale's University High School, where he was an assistant basketball coach. From there he attained his first full-time position in Wayne City where he taught physical education and coached basketball and baseball.

After seven years, Harmon made the move to Granite City. He headed the basketball and cross country programs for five years before switching to cross country and tennis.

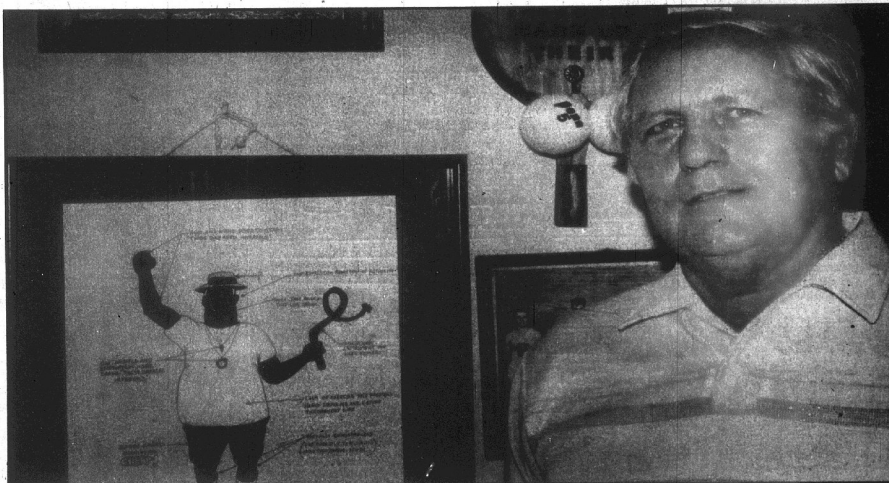

With 30 years of coaching memories, Harmon has many fond recollections. But he doesn't talk about championships too much. He smiles warmly and sometimes chuckles when he remembers the enjoyment he received from the day-in day-out interaction with his teams.

"I enjoy being around the kids. In coaching, you've got the kids that want to be out there," Harmon said. "They don't have to be there. It's not like class. The kids want to be out there, so it's very enjoyable."

One of those kids is now an assistant principal at Granite City High, Vic Buehler.

"I'll never forget my sophomore basketball team. Vic Buehler played on it. The talent wasn't real great. Well, Vic was the only one to play varsity ball," Harmon said. "But they were just a real enjoyable bunch. The kids were so close together. Andy Sullivan (former Granite City basketball and track coach) and I were just talking about that the other day."

"He (Sullivan) said, 'They were just happy to ride the bus.' He said,

Harmon at home with some memorabilia

"It was the only team I ever saw in my life that would fight to see who got to carry the balls and stuff into the gym."

Harmon's tennis coaching career has been filled with fine players and winning teams, including a three-year period in which the Warriors won 32 matches in succession.

"We were 32-0 at one time. And that was quite a record then because we only played about 10 matches a year," Harmon said.

"Johnny Van Buskirk (former Granite City North and present Mascoutah tennis coach), Bob Melokoe, Norman Popmarkoff, Louis Mayer, Billy Harris, and Jim Carlyle and some others were on that team," Harmon said. "And one thing about that group is that I think that everyone of those kids were honor students."

The string ended at 32 when the Warriors were beaten by McCluer.

"We played everybody, Country Day, the private school. We played St. Louis U. High, we played anybody," he said. "And when we had 32 in a row, it was in the paper. I got a phone call from McCluer, and they wanted to have a match with us."

"They were the Missouri state champions, and they beat us 3-2, but what I didn't know at the time was that they had won 31 in a row and that's why they called us. They ended up winning 58 in a row."

"But, you know, I've been blessed with a lot of good tennis players over the years."

In his tenure at Granite City High, Harmon has seen many changes in youth and in high school sports.

"I think we've changed in our lack of discipline. Back then the kids wanted it more than they do now. Everything evolved around the high school years ago, and now it doesn't. It was easier to get more kids out (for sports)."

"And now you've got all the indoor courts and they watch the pro's on TV. I don't think that helps tennis players very much," Harmon said.

"I still believe that kids should watch their etiquette on the court, and I have been very proud of the Granite City students, the kids that played for me. Most people will tell you that we're one of the best-disciplined schools in the area, and that's not just because of the coaches. The kids are better."

"The attitudes have changed a lot the last few years, but I think that's just because times have changed. Like I say, I don't think it's all for the better, but I've been very lucky. I've enjoyed my years of teaching."

Then Harmon offered an explanation. (See HARMON, Page 3D)

Inter-City Baseball 'Chiefly' in it for the fun of it

By JOE THOMPSON
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — On a team whose players hail from Granite City and are called the Chiefs, Jim Garvey must feel like a lonesome soldier.

Garvey is from Collinsville. His residence, however, is not why he sticks out like the sound of a home run hit off an aluminum bat. At age 27, Garvey is far and away the Chiefs' oldest player.

The Chiefs, in their third season of Inter-City League play, field a roster whose players average 20 years of age. That's just past the peach fuzz stage in a league which boasts players whom the term "grizzled" fits as snugly as a newly washed uniform.

The Chiefs are 6-17 with five league games left. They also rest this weekend with a bye before springing back into action next Sunday when they host powerhouse Brooklyn in a doubleheader at Wilson Park.

McDonalds, the other Granite City Inter-City League entry, hosts East Alton today in a doubleheader at Wilson Park. McDonalds, which may be the Chiefs' biggest rivals, is above .500. The two teams have split their four games.

Chins are up in the Chiefs' camp, despite the meager number of victories.

"It might not show up in the standings, but I know we're better than last year. And we're much better than two years ago," says manager

Dennis Gurkin.

The Chiefs finished at 12-16 last year. That bettered their inaugural season in the league the year before when they won just four games.

"I can see improvement in all the boys," said Gurkin.

He should know. The 40-year-old Gurkin has coached many of the Chiefs players since they were 12 years old, and a few from when they were nine.

Gurkin started the Chiefs after players had no place to play after graduating from Senior Legion baseball and finding Inter-City League rosters bloated.

It's been a three-year labor of love, even if the Chiefs haven't yet caused the league's top three teams — Brooklyn (19-4), East St. Louis (17-6) and the Eagles (17-6) — to look over their shoulders.

"The guys are all doing their best. They're all good people, too. There's no bad people on this team. That's what makes it enjoyable," said Gurkin.

A few more victories, however, certainly would not make the players disagreeable.

"I'd sure like to win more than we have," said Gurkin. "I'd like to be among the top four."

The fact the Chiefs, though playing better, have not cracked the league's upper echelon is testament to the strength of the competition.

"We've improved, but so has the league," said Gurkin.

The Chiefs, it would appear, are destined to reach their goal. You know what they say about Father Time. While the Inter-City grows old, the Chiefs will just be reaching their baseball maturity.

Gurkin figures is about 25 in the Inter-City.

"We've got a nucleus that's young. They will get better," said Gurkin.

One player who is young but seemingly has reached maturity is third baseman Rick Takmajan, whose .340 batting average is one of the best on the team and 16th best in the league.

Takmajan is 23 and the oldest starter. Also 23 is first baseman Rob Chapman, who is hitting above the .300 mark.

The Chiefs' youngest player is Matt Roe, who is 16. Roe sparked in the infield for Granite City High and the Tri-City Triplets. His best position may be behind the plate.

"He could be one of the best catchers coming out of high school," Gurkin says.

Whoever the catcher, the Chiefs will certainly be boosted if Darrell Harris is the one pitching. The right-handed Harris has had shoulder problems this season and has been unable to pitch regularly. Gurkin figures a full-time Harris would have meant "two to three" more victories.

When Harris' shoulder has allowed him to pitch, he has fashioned a 3-3 record. Two of the losses were 3-1 verdicts. In both defeats, two of the three runs were unearned.

Another Chief who has figured prominently is Matt Roe who, Gurkin says, "can play anywhere on the field."

Another who has not gone unnoticed is 6-foot 3-inch, 185-pound Gary King, gifted not only in stature but also talent. "He can be good," said Gurkin. "He's probably the fastest kid on the team."

Catcher Jeff Dalton, who is also batting above .300, Kevin Patterson, who can help out in any capacity, and Gurkin's son, right fielder-first baseman Dennis Gurkin, a fine hitter, have also contributed handsomely.

The Chiefs also have recently signed outfielder Gerald Booker, who completed a splendid season for the Tri-City Triplets' Senior Legion team.

It cost the Chiefs about $800 to compete in the Inter-City their first season. Subsequently yearly costs have run about $600. But the players gladly open their pocketbooks.

"They love to play," said Gurkin.

"They have to love to play. They have seen dividends, and not just in their potential. One of their victories was a Memorial Day weekend 7-2 triumph over East St. Louis at East St. Louis. They did so somewhat short of help."

"When we finished, we had only nine players. I played right field," said Gurkin, the ninth player. "That was nice beating them down there. Anytime you win it's nice."

Even nicer times may be just a few years up the road.

TICKET WINNER. Carol Kester, 40, of Pontoon Beach is the latest winner in the Press-Record Journal's Game of the Week Cardinal Ticket Contest. Kester, who works at McDonnell-Douglas in St. Louis, correctly guessed that the Cubs would defeat the Cardinals 5-2 Wednesday. For her correct guess, Kester received two tickets to the Aug. 12 game with Pittsburgh.

Gabriel named scholar athlete by ITCA

QUINCY — Laura Gabriel, a 1985 graduate of Quincy College and a 1981 graduate of Granite City South High School, was named as a Scholar Athlete of the Year by the International Tennis Coaches Association (ITCA).

Gabriel, who transferred to Quincy from Lewis and Clark College in 1983, was the number one singles player for the Hawkettes for two years.

Criteria for the award was based on the nominee's varsity tennis accomplishments and scholastic achievements. On the Hawkette varsity, Gabriel had a combined doubles and singles won-lost record of 65-9.

That mark bettered Missy Clow's all-time Quincy College record of 65 wins, and Gabriel's record was set in just two years as compared to Clow's three.

Gabriel also participated in the NAIA National Tennis Tournament twice. On the academic level, Gabriel also excelled, for she graduated from Quincy College with a 3.745 GPA and a degree in physical education.

Players' strike will only hurt baseball, fans

In major-league baseball, most players have been through the mill as employees. Most were drafted out of high school or after a year or two of college. They played under sub-standard conditions in the minor leagues. They rode buses, got moved around, had no minimum salaries or security. They lived in the real world and it was an enlightening and educational experience."

Marvin Miller, baseball union head in 1982.

"Marvin Miller is one of the most respected, brightest labor negotiators in the United States. It's only because of Miller that baseball players have been able to earn the money they deserve to earn. This, of course, greatly upsets the Old World sportswriters, who've always sided with — and enjoyed the favors of — baseball team owners."

Howard Cosell, famed ABC-TV sportscaster.

Major-league baseball and big salaries. You can't really talk about one without bringing up the other. Throw the two together in a hat along with an eight-letter word like pension and another word — that of strike comes to mind — like the baseball strike of 1985.

Will it happen or will it be averted at the 11th hour by Baseball Commissioner Peter Ueberroth, the magician who gave the word gold another meaning in the 1984 Olympic Games?

Ueberroth made his "pitch" to the players and the owners Friday, and for all intents and purposes, it seems as though it was slapped off. There's been a lot of talk about Ueberroth's proposal, but it seems as though a settlement won't be made before the strike deadline Tuesday.

Among Ueberroth's proposals was the request that negotiating continue past the strike deadline, but even that possibility looks bleak judging by comments made Friday by Don Fehr, the players' labor leader.

"That (extending the strike deadline) is very difficult to imagine," Fehr said.

The real stickler, aside from players' salary caps and the players' request that the owners stop blaming the players for their financial woes, is the pension fund.

Simply put, the players want more money in the fund and they'd like more players to benefit from the fund. The owners, meanwhile, think the pension fund is fine just the way it is — as fine as a rookie's contract.

The owners' annual contribution to the player pension fund has been $15.5 million. Players seek $60 per year and also seek to relax the tenure requirements which will enable more players to receive pension benefits.

Now things being like they are during a strike, whether it be one by professional athletes, teachers, firemen, garbage collectors or whatever, the only real thing that will be hurt by the strike will be both sides themselves, and in this case, professional baseball. The players will get by. The owners will get by. When it's all over, the owners' and the players' representatives will shake hands and be friends.

Now as for the fans, the people from whom all the money comes from anyway, will be the ones up in arms. They're the ones who'll suffer, right along with the good old American pastime.

Do I think the players receive too much money?

Yes.

Do I think the owners should get all the money?

No.

Simply, All of baseball has been bitten by the million dollar bug.

If the players weren't getting exorbitant salaries I honestly believe there wouldn't be as many players abusing drugs. Sure, there are going to be some problems anyway, but not as many.

You put $2 million dollars in the hand of a 23-year-old kid and he's going to get into trouble with it.

As for the owners, I think they're entitled to make a profit. After all, they're in it to make a money, or at least, owning a professional baseball franchise shouldn't mean that your not supposed to.

The problem is a most complex one; one resembling the domino theory. First of all, there's television, a very expensive medium of communication. Equipment is costly and production costs are high, which, in turn, lead to high advertising rates.

Those high rates benefit both the networks and the baseball team owners, who sign lucrative contracts with those networks to carry their team's games.

Through the players' union, the owners are forced to divulge their accounting records which reveals that they are making mucho bucks from the networks to complement their ticket sales. Arbitrators say the owners are making too much money and that they should give more of it to their players. And so the dominoes fall. Let's just hope that the fans don't fall with them.

Triplets season a ride over peaks, valleys

By GREGG OCHOA
Staff writer

Notes and random thoughts on Tri-City's recently completed American Legion baseball season.

Wayne Wirtz, the Highland manager and the District 22 commissioner, turned out to be a prophet.

"I think it will be a close game. These two clubs are evenly matched," Wirtz said before his team was to meet the Triplets in the double-elimination tournament.

Highland won the first round meeting 13-7 and later ended Tri-City's season 6-4 in the title game. In between, the Triplets had advanced to the North Division finals via the loser's bracket by knocking off Alto 4-1.

Tri-City's final record was 12-12 in league play.

Catcher Derek Mertz got one of the North's three hits in the District 22 All-Star game. He singled in the eighth inning.

The South dominated the intra-division game winning 9-0. South hurlers didn't allow a hit until the seventh when Highland's Mark Rosen rapped a single.

Alton Manager Harry Kortkamp was given the Joe Przada Sportsmanship award, based on a vote of all the umpires who worked the league games during the season.

Przada was a former umpire in the Metro East area.

In 1984, Coakley was given the honor. Kent Vollert of Marissa was named the Manager of the Year.

Marissa, winners of the South Division, ended the regular season at 17-3. Highland's Jeff Schutte was named Most Valuable Player.

The Triplets season was filled with peaks and valleys. Following are some highlights.

BEST PERFORMANCE: Unquestionably this would have to be the Triplets' championship in the Bethalto July 4 Tournament. Tri-City exploded for 11 runs to beat Hardin-Calhoun in the championship game.

MOST PRODUCTION: The Triplets bombed Edwardsville with 13 runs in one inning at Hope Field. Against Hardin they scored 12 runs.

Tri-City plated 13 runs in a single inning against Fairview Heights. Their record was 1-1 in those games.

BEST TEAM DECISION: Because of limited funds, Tri-City withdrew from a July 4 tournament in Paducah, Ky. Instead, they entered the Bethalto tournament and won top honors.

BEST GAME OF THE YEAR: Vs. East St. Louis. The Triplets came away with a 2-1 win in a game that lasted less than an hour-and-50 minutes. East Side threatened in the seventh as the tying run was on second with less than two outs. The game's final play featured a sweeping tag by Mertz at home to get pinch-runner Mark Adams trying to score from second on an error.

WORST GAME OF THE YEAR: Vs. Collinsville. The Triplets won this one, but the contest was marred by a bench-clearing incident after the Triplets' Ernie Gary was hit by a pitch. Both sides traded verbal jabs in an incident that was rather ugly to witness.

TOUGHEST WEEK OF THE YEAR: The league team hit their deepest valley the last week of June. During that week, the Triplets lost four straight, including a game against Waterloo which Jeff Lower made a diving catch to preserve a 9-0 win.

BEST COMEBACK: Tri-City showed some mettle coming back in the homestretch of the season winning six in a row and moving into contention for the North Division title. It was the Triplets' longest winning streak of the season. The streak stopped with an 11-1 loss to Alton on July 11.

BEST COMEBACK (SINGLE GAME): Against Freeburg, the Triplets rallied with four runs in the top of the seventh inning to win 3-2.

WORST BREAK: Opening night in O'Fallon. Sam Tate hurled a three-hitter for six innings before rain halted play and forced the game to be rescheduled. There was no score at the time. In the replay, the Triplets and Tate beat O'Fallon, 6-2.

SOMEBODY UP THERE LIKES ME: During a game against Jefferson City, the Triplets allowed five unearned runs, but still hung on for a 7-6 win. In the double-header they allowed a combined 11 unearned runs. They split the two games.

OH THOSE GIVEAWAYS: Unearned runs were a constant thorn for the Triplets throughout the season. For example, in an 8-1 loss to Highland on June 26 except for Mark Rosen's homerun, the Triplets allowed seven unearned runs.

IT'S A MERRY-GO-ROUND: Against Edwardsville on June 14, the Triplets blasted nine hits and scored 13 runs in the third inning. Every member of the line-up scored at least one run in that inning.

SHIRT OFF MY BACK: Bill Moore arrived unexpectedly to a game with Highland and didn't have a uniform. Manager Dave Coakley gave him his jersey. Moore said "thank you" by smacking a two-run homer in the seventh inning.

EXTRA EFFORT: In the Triplets only extra-inning game of the year, Tri-City edged Alto 5-4 in nine innings.

FOR THE RECORD BOOK: Tri-City fared well against its North Division counterparts. They earned a split with Collinsville, Edwardsville, Alton and Troy. Tri-City won the season series with Bethalto, but was 0-4 against Highland. Two those losses came in the play-offs.

SOUTHERN BLUES: Against South Division teams, the Triplets were just 2-5. Three of the losses were by one run. Tri-City's two victories were over O'Fallon and East St. Louis.

ROADIES: Tri-City had a better road record (6-4) than when they played in Granite City. The Triplets were 6-7 when playing at home.

Pro sports teams not supportive enough of amateurs ranks

By AL BARNES
for the Press-Record

Professional sports, baseball, football, basketball, et al, have a dismal, yes, even lousy record when it comes to supporting the amateur ranks and use of their facilities, the colleges and amateur organizations from whence they draw their game's raw talent.

The Major Leagues, American and National Leagues, face the grim prospects that their highly-paid players, due to their possible strike, may blow the final third of the 1985 season. The main roadblock to signing a contract, from the players' viewpoint, appears to be a desire to grab off a bigger share of the game's overall income for the players' pension fund.

I think that is OK, but manage-

It was brutal and totally selfish the way the Cleveland management turned a deaf ear to the pleas of the N.C.A.A. soccer authorities when they appealed to the pro football team for help in playing their tournament.

The problem was that a week of snowfall prior to the title had ruled out every field but the Cleveland Stadium and another public stadium which was much smaller than the big one on the lake front. The game was scheduled for the first Saturday in December, 1977, and it had to be completed to determine whether or not the Cougars or Cleveland State would advance on to the national championship field of four the following Saturday at San Francisco.

So when the Browns, to save their own field at the Stadium, decided to lege soccer," the PR underling snarled to me when I pleaded with him to contact the owner of the Browns in an attempt to change their minds.

So, next day, the game was played on top of at least a foot of snow on the grounds of one of the many private soccer fields that are located all around the Cleveland area.

The Cougars won over Cleveland on a goal by little Jeff Caciatore in near below zero weather and at the end of a second overtime period and on an assist from Don Ebert, the leading scorer in '77 as a freshman with 14 goals and six assists. The following Saturday, the Cougars lost to the University of San Francisco Doni, 2-1, also in a double-overtime battle. SIUE took third place Sunday by defeating Brown University, 3-2, for third-place honors.

How did the Cougars make it to Cleveland? They beat Indiana U., 3-2, in another double overtime classic, again on a last second goal by Jeff Caciatore. In all the soccer games I have covered from 1969 through 1980, that Hoosiers vs. Cougars game was the best played game I have ever seen.

The Cougars, in 1979 and with the '77 freshmen now juniors, the national crown down in Tampa, Florida, over Clemson, 3-2.

It was a crazy season, a 12-4-1 one, which saw the Cougars drop out of the top 20 rankings for a couple of weeks midway through the season after SIUE was tied by a weak

Western Illinois University team, 1-1, and lost to very so-so University of Missouri-St. Louis club, 6-1.

Mainstays on that 1977 SIUE team were: Chris and Jeff Caciatore, Bob Bozoda, Tim Clark, the already mentioned Don Ebert, Tim Guzik, Dave Hummer, Dave Hundel, Mike Kelley, Matt and Pat Malloy, the exciting Greg Makowski, Perry Trushel and John Zacheis. Others who made contributions were: Tom Donovan, Brian Higgins, and Dan Wagener.

ment and the players, as well, had better be thinking more of plans to underwrite and fund the game of baseball on the scholastic (prep school), and grassroot collegiate levels. A quarter of a century ago (1960 or thereabouts), the Majors did vote to spend some money to encourage the development of the game. For example, they set up summer leagues of undergraduate in college (you couldn't play if you were a senior). The three that comes to mind are the Cape Cod League, the Alaskan Loop and the Central Illinois Collegiate League.

The Central Illinois loop almost died this summer when Gary (Bo) Collins, eight-year coach of the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville baseball program, came to the rescue. And made it possible to continue the league, but with just four clubs: the Springfield Rifles, the Twin City (Bloomington and Normal) Stars, the Quincy Rivermen and the already mentioned Collins' group, the Metro East Miners.

The Miners are coached by former SIUE players and graduate, Ed Kopff and now head coach at St. Louis University.

Of my direct knowledge, the lack of concern of the professional teams shown by the Cleveland football Browns, which at the tail end of the 1977 campaign, turned a cold and totally deaf ear to the plight of the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville soccer team in the finals of the Midwest N.C.A.A. held that year on the shores of Lake Erie at Cleveland, Ohio.

workout Saturday in a forenoon practice session on the same playing field as that on which the Cleveland State eleven and Cougar kickers would battle it out for the right to go to the city on the bays, their workout drills made the field a icy and almost completely glazed over and resulting in a surface on which neither team could possibly maintain their collective footing.

So, the search was on for a place to play the game extending out for well over 150 miles. It was the same story for well over 200 miles.

It was at this point that the top management of the Browns was asked to share their field with the two collegiate soccer teams the next day, Sunday afternoon. Los Angeles was scheduled to play the Browns starting at 1 p.m.

Because the Browns were responsible for the game between SIUE and Cleveland not having a place to play, it was suggested, no, even pleaded, that after the California and Cleveland pro grinder were through battling each other, that the two college teams would be permitted to play their important journey game on the field and before the same huge audience.

The idea was curly, and I still think it was totally selfishly turned down. What burned me up was the four-mouthed answer one of the employees of the Browns' Public Relations office said to me over the telephone.

"We can't be bothered by the needs of a bush league sport like col-

Army Corps, DOC sponsor hunter course

The hunting season is nearly here and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, in cooperation with the Illinois Department of Conservation, will sponsor a hunter safety course.

The course will be offered on Saturday, Aug. 17, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the Carlyle Lake Visitor Center, located in the Dam West Recreation Area.

A 1976 state law requires that all hunters under the age of 16 must successfully complete an eight-hour hunter safety course before they can receive a Hunter Safety Certification card, which verifies that they have passed the safety instruction.

This eight-hour course will include instructions in wildlife management, firearm safety, hunter ethics, game identification, first aid, survival techniques, and regulations. Students should bring their lunch and a pen or pencil.

Students may register the day of the class, but it is recommended that those wishing to participate should pre-register by calling the Carlyle Lake Management Office at 594-2484.
